Many Improvements Have Been Made at West chester-Aceful Turns Good Trial.

Morris Park course showed to great ad-wantage this morning during the hours asked of them but light breezing and at which the racers are brought to the jogging exercise at which the racers are brought to the open for their exercise. A bright sunshine beamed over the mammoth racing plant and the temperature was pleasant. Several improvements have been made on the grounds since the crowds gathered there in the spring. The most noticeable of these being the erection of a roomy and commodious field stand that will entertain three thousand patrons of the field and give them ample opportunities of witnessing the races from start to finish. The steeplechase course has been much improved, the jumps are now of the regulation size and of equal height.

The course is thronged with horses from all the racing grounds of the country and all during the morning long strings of the country's greatest thoroughbreds were shown over the course at some variety of speed. The strings from the Long Island tracks of Sheeps-

Knight of the Thistle cost Mr. Reed $39,000 two years ago but to day R. H. McCarter Potter, owner of the Pequest Stud, bought him for $18,000 Pessaro was then sold to Jack Chinn for $3,600. The noted English sire St. Blaise, for which Mr. Reed gave $100,000 some years ago, which was made in one bld, went to J. B. Haggin for $5,500. The other stallions sold cheap and several failed to get a bid. The first ten mares led into the ring did not attract much attention as several were passed out and the others went cheap.

This sale marks the passing out of famous stud, and the retirement of the owner, Charles Reed has been dentified with the turf in various ways. Once his colors were borne by fast horses. Subsequently he bought the Saratoga race-track. It was from him that G. Walbaum bought the famous old course.

Mr. Reed is probably best known to the present generation of racegoers as the man who startled the turf world years ago at the dissolution sale of the late August Belmont, father of the present sentence of that name, by paying 100,000 for the English Derby winner and sire, St. Blaise.

The salure of Bob Fitzsimmons to accept McCoy's challenge has rather disheartened the Hoosier boxer, and as he is anxious to get on a fight with some one the indications are that they will be matched shortly to box a six-round bout either in Philadelphia or Chicago. Carter has posted a foreit of $500 and issued a challenge to fight McCoy as soon as the latter is ready.
